

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

contribute to global research

Reed College Statement on Divestment

March 23, 2015
Portland, Oregon

Reed College is pleased to announce that the Board of Trustees has approved a divestment policy that will allow the college to divest from companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction. This policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

The divestment policy is a direct result of the divestment campaign led by the Reed College community over the past several years. The campaign was initiated by the Reed College community in response to the college's investment in companies that are involved in the production, development, or sale of nuclear weapons, nuclear power, or other weapons of mass destruction.

Red Bull Energy Drink

Red Bull Energy Drink
Red Bull Energy Drink

